The trading was a close counterpart to that on dexican Central cifs..... with a renewal of the same sort of liquitrading was a close counterpart to that on Monday. To-day, as then, heavy London selling, combined with sales for the account of speculators in this country to produce declines ranging around two points in the active shares before the declining movement was arrested by any particular rally, and the rally in the late trading produced only fractional recoveries from the low prices of the day.

In the early stages of this recovery London bought more heavily than at any other time of the year, and the rapidity of the recovery supplied it with profits that proved tempting. Even yet, though the reaction in the past week has been rapid, the prices show a profit on the London purchase prices. The action of the market in the past six days has done much to discourage this idea, and to-day this circumstance alone undoubtedly overcame the patience of many speculators who bought stocks in the later stages of the recovery or missed the opportunity for profit-taking supplied by the high prices early last week. But when stocks sold off, Wall street's trading fraternity professed to see reasons for the decline in developments. The hearty reception accorded to Col. Roosevelt up-State was the favorite reason among many of the traders; others based their bear argument on reports that President Taft had decided to recommend further reductions in the tariff, but the lack of militant radicalism in Col. Roosevelt's speech impressed favorably people who comment upon it, and it is by no means beleved that the majority of men of importance feel adverse to tariff revision. Funds for the Interior.
